

Thoroughbreds learn new tricks

THERE were some special guests when the Sutherland Shire Horse Owners' Association event day was held at Carina Bay Reserve, Como last Sunday. The day, which included dressage events from preparatory to intermediate, is one of several meetings the club holds each year, culminating in its championship day in November.

It was a chance for the association to show the results of a new program it has embarked on with Racing NSW to help promote retraining of thoroughbreds that have finished their track career. Several of the thoroughbreds, which were for sale, were put through their paces in front of spectators in the hope of finding them a suitable home. Pictured is Racing NSW retraining manager, Scott Brodie, with one of the thoroughbreds that was retrained under the program.
